ESSENTIALS

Potassium Magnesium Citrate

The mineral duo potassium and magnesium in the easily absorbed and tolerated citrate form

PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

Potassium & magnesium - important for the musculature and nerves

Potassium and magnesium are two minerals that play an important role in different bodily functions. They are intrinsically involved in the interaction of nerve and muscle functions and therefore of special importance for the myocardial muscle. Thus, both minerals are involved in the normal sequence of muscular contraction and relaxation. Potassium is also involved in regulating the blood pressure and therefore has an impact on the circulatory system.

Biogena Potassium Magnesium Citrate: With magnesium to support the electrolyte balance

Biogena Potassium Magnesium Citrate contains potassium and magnesium in organic citrate compounds. Both minerals support the muscle and nerve functions as well as help the blood pressure. Magnesium also contributes to maintaining the electrolyte balance in the body.

Physiological importance of the vital substances contained:

- Potassium and magnesium contribute to the normal functioning of muscles and the nervous system
- Potassium helps maintain a normal blood pressure
- Magnesium supports the electrolyte balance in the body
- Magnesium helps reduce tiredness and fatigue
- Organic citrate compound
- Particularly well tolerated
- Free from additives
- 100% vegan

POSSIBLE USES

- To support muscle function, for example that of the heart, and to maintain a normal blood pressure
- To increase the magnesium and potassium uptake for example in the case of losses through sports or the use of medications that interfere with mineral uptake in the intestine
